Program Highlights

You will be encouraged to explore personal style in conjunction with developing the skills and techniques to design, fabricate, and finish basic jewellery forms. Processes will be addressed for the use of a variety of precious metals.

This 15-week program is delivered in an intensive format, and is the equivalent to two semesters of full-time studies. Studies in design, drawing, and history for jewellers provide a strong foundation for exploring fabrication, chain making, surface decoration, casting, forming and stone setting. The emphasis on marketing and portfolio development will assist you in acquiring the skills to promote your art practice.
